

Making a difference starts with you

How your legacy commitment makes a difference:

.....
Affect the quality and number of electronic systems integrators in the industry
.....

Influence advancements in electronic systems integration education and operations
.....

Help new students and current professionals receive financial aid for industry education and training
.....

Attract new demographics, such as women and veterans, to the industry
.....

Be remembered forever as a leader in the electronic systems integration industry!
.....

The NSCA Education Foundation is the only non-profit organization who provides financial support for new students and existing professionals.

Build your legacy today to influence tomorrow

The NSCA Education Foundation strives to provide financial support for new students and existing professionals in the electronic systems integration industry. Your commitment will impact the industry today and well into the future. Like the people who encouraged you to achieve your utmost potential, you can be remembered as someone instrumental to the advancement of the electronic systems integration industry and its workforce. Many individuals and companies have worked with the NSCA Education Foundation to set up scholarships in their names to insure that their legacy is felt long after they have left the industry.

We make sure that your contributions are effectively distributed throughout our various programs insuring that every aspect of the electronic systems integration industry, from the people to the technology, is influenced by your commitment to the future. From industry research to scholarships, the spirit of innovation and generosity will continue to thrive with partners like you.

Make a lasting difference in the industry

This is a situation where everyone wins. Your commitment will positively affect the electronic systems integration industry, the businesses that depend on it and the people who service it. Together we can take steps towards supporting the continued growth of the industry as well as America's workforce. You are the first step in making a difference. Help real people get real jobs by influencing the effectiveness of current electronic systems integration training programs to helping individuals with financial assistance through scholarships.

This is where you come in... get involved!

www.nscfoundation.org

3950 River Ridge Drive NE, Cedar Rapids, IA 52402 800-446-6722