Vaddio White Paper Looks at BYOD and Group Collaboration: How to Collaborate with Ease on Any Device

The preference for Bring Your Own Device (BYOD) in the workplace is a disrupting development for IT and AV business managers. This white paper discusses how IT and business leaders can empower employees to use their own devices to create effective, collaborative group meetings, regardless of which meeting room is available or what type of device, operating system or application is used.

Learn how Vaddio's GroupSTATION and HuddleSTATION are making it easy to create BYOD-ready rooms and define an important new direction for group collaboration.

For more information or to download the white paper please contact Kelly Perkins at \(763\) 971-4409 or by email at kperkins@vaddio.com.
