Letter of Recommendation

My company's recent R&D Tax Credit study with alliantgroup was an excellent business experience. The tax professionals at alliantgroup facilitated our analysis in a well-organized and thorough manner that we found truly impressive. When we first heard of alliantgroup through my peer group, we didn't think the R&D Tax Credit applied to us. We didn't realize how much value there was to be claimed by companies in our industry. In fact, it was a pleasant surprise to learn that our activities qualified as research and development. Additionally, if our competitors were claiming it, we certainly wanted to as well.

The team at alliantgroup led the way in educating us about the credit, so we felt comfortable as we moved forward with our claim. It was easy to trust them to take care of every detail because of their clear expertise with their process and the tax law. Individuals at our company enjoyed speaking to these knowledgeable associates because they were able to talk in familiar industry terms. The people at alliantgroup clearly understood our industry, which allowed them to apply the law to it in the best way to find us our maximum possible credit. Communication with our alliantgroup project manager was easy and we appreciated that they kept our study on track through quick calls and follow up emails. This study took very little of our time as a direct result of this individual's great leadership and willingness to take on the bulk of the responsibility.

We am happy to recommend alliantgroup because the return on our company's investment in their services was so great. The significant tax savings are allowing us to put money towards growing our operations in new ways that we find truly worthwhile.

Sincerely,
