Merger/Acquisition – Press Release

January 31, 2019 | Digital Resources, Inc. Acquires Bock Technologies, Inc.

Southlake, TX – Digital Resources, Inc. (DRI), a leading full-service AV and broadcast technology integration company has acquired the Integration Division of Bock Technologies, Inc., a Dallas based company leading audio and broadcast integration company. DRI serves the Texas, Oklahoma and the South-Central region of the U.S. The company offers expertise in technology, consulting, engineering design, integration and support services. The company’s mainstay has been partnering with some of the largest state, city, county, education, higher education, healthcare and corporate companies in providing complete AV, audio, IT, unified communication and full-service broadcast technologies and services.

By combining forces with Bock Technologies, DRI has now greatly expanded its high-end large venue audio, broadcast production and content delivery systems portfolio. DRI can now engage itself with the highest level of clients in high-end audio, corporate broadcast, international ministries as well as renowned church and house of worship entities.

Dan Bock will stay on as a Broadcast Consultant to help transition the company. Dan comments, that he is excited to see the growth of the companies and will help lead the development of new talent and technology services to continue the progress of what he had built.

The strategy of the acquisition from the leadership of the companies brings together a world class level of talent and resources including Emmy Award winning broadcast engineering and technology consulting for integrated design and services that will expand across a wide range of industries. “We will be focused on customer service requirements, on site services, training and service contracts as we expand our overall market reach with the merger of these two power house entities.” said Tim Bock, Director of Digital Resources.

Digital Resources is a nationally certified WBE/HUB woman owned company, led by industry veteran Wendy Bock. Wendy stated, “This merger has been exciting to bring together and develop as we have been working on this for several months. This will help lay the foundation to develop our long-term capabilities of leading the company direction well into the future of our industry. We will continue to offer state and local co-op contracts along with expanded engineering services and technology consulting for our clients.”
