Jeron's Ambulatory and Nurse Call Systems Featured at Orlando's HIMSS19

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

January 25 – Niles, Illinois - - HIMSS (Healthcare Information and Management Systems) Annual Conference taking place February 12th through the 14th in Orlando, FL, is the largest Health IT event in the industry. Nearly 45,000 Healthcare professionals, clinicians, and executives will attend.

Jeron Electronic Systems, Inc. will be exhibiting in their HIMSS Booth #4450; presenting how to achieve excellent acute and ambulatory care workflow and positive patient experiences through the latest innovations in Nurse Call Workflow technology. The focal point of the HIMSS Conference itself will be healthcare workflow core competencies, i.e., streamlined communication, collaboration, and teamwork.

Jeron's Provider® Nurse Call Systems, supports clinical communications and integrations that streamline caregiver to patient interactions, staff tasks, and patient throughput. A new feature of Provider is the Noti-Fi™ Smartphone alerting option for direct text alerts from patients to their assigned caregiver's smartphone.

"With Noti-Fi, we are excited to offer such a flexible option that will keep caregivers mobile while still being completely connected to their residents or patients," says Myles Cochran, Jeron's Director of Marketing. "It complements our other wireless phone and pocket paging options allowing facilities to choose the combination of wireless options that work best for them. We look forward to demonstrating Noti-Fi and more new offerings at HIMSS"

Visit Jeron Electronic Systems, Inc. and learn about Provider Nurse Call & Ambulatory Systems at HIMSS BOOTH #4450. In-depth demonstrations and valuable information about the future direction of Nurse Call communications will be given during HIMSS exhibit hours.
